SCHOOL BOARD FAILS TO ELECT

Gets In Parliamentary Wrangle and Adjourns.

Much Other Business Transacted During the Meeting—Pay Rolls and Bills Allowed.

Supt. LIEB GRANTED VACATION.

A lively meeting of the school board was expected last night but absolutely untroubled was the demeanor while the routine business was under consideration, but when the election of teachers came up, the electric sparks of animal combativeness scintillated within a radius of the board, and with the president's chair as the center.

The board adjourned precipitously while a rule on the order of business was in debate. This question was whether it was necessary to make a motion for reconsideration of the unfinished business.

President Williamson called for unfinished business and Mr. Beckenbach suggested that the election of an English teacher be gone into. Mr. Walton thought that the election of teachers could not be entered into until a motion to that effect had been carried by a majority of the board, and that the motion must be made by a member who had voted with the majority when the original motion to elect teachers was carried at a called meeting in June, at which time the deadlock over the English position began.

Mr. Beckenbach suggested that as the election of teachers was unfinished business, it was unnecessary to make a motion for reconsideration. Taking section 29 of the rules as authority President Williamson ruled that the election of teachers could not be held until a motion that it be so done was carried. Section 29 says that when a motion for the consideration of business has been carried or lost, it may be reconsidered if a motion to that effect is made by a member who voted in the majority, and if the motion to reconsider is carried. But that the motion to reconsider must be made not later than the next meeting.

It is evident that that section refers to business which has been definitely closed, whether it was closed by the motion to consider being carried or not.

Mr. Karnes entered the debate at this point and thought that the point made by Mr. Beckenbach was correct. Those appearing to be no outlet to the situation, Mr. Karnes made a motion that the board adjourn. The motion was seconded by Mr. Petter and when put to the house was carried.

A calm examination of the rules after the meeting adjourned showed that all participants in the debate were right in part but none were wholly so. The election of teachers was unfinished business and as such it was unnecessary to make a motion to consider it. In suggesting that a teacher of English be elected, Mr. Beckenbach wanted to take that position as the starting point in the unfinished business. Every member had a right to suggest a starting point but if none could be agreed upon then a vote must be taken to decide that point.

The report of Superintendent of Buildings Fred Hoyer, mentioned that windows had been broken out at the Franklin building with a damage of $9. Mr. Hoyer knows who did it and has witnesses. The board instructed him to see whether parents of the boys would pay the damage. If not to turn the matter over to Judge Lightfoot in the juvenile court.

Resignations from some of the teachers who have resigned in the last month, to accept positions elsewhere, were accepted.

Janitors for the different buildings were elected with no changes in persons except at the McKinley building where O. P. Powell was elected to succeed Janitor Jones. The salary of Janitor at the High school building was raised from $75 to $90 a month.

In his report Superintendent Lieb recommended that the rules of the board be gone over and made more explicit before they are printed. He asked the board's pleasure about the Credit class, in which there would only be two this year, whether it should be continued.

The pay roll for the last month was allowed.

The Bleach hill for keeping clocks in the different buildings in repair, was referred to the finance committee for investigation of the amount of work done and to report back to the board.

The Kentucky Printing company was awarded the contract to furnish 250 copies of the rules of order of the board and 2,500 copies of the rules regulating conduct of pupils, for distribution among parents. Their bid was 68 cents a page.

Mechanicsburg school property was ordered sold to trustees of the Christian church for $1,000; $700 cash and notes for the balance, for four months.

Supt. Lieb and Superintendent of Buildings Hoyer were granted a short vacation.

The minutes of the last meeting were adopted without protest.

All members were present.

SYRIAN LEPER

IN A TENT ON SIDE OF A MOUNTAIN.

Awaits An Examination Which May Result in Deportation.

Washington, Aug. 8.—In a tent on a bleak mountain side in Randolph county, W. Va., not far from the town of Elkins, George Rossi, the Syrian leper, about whom there has been so much concern on the part of the health authorities of dozens of cities during the past three weeks is existing without care of any kind.

The people in the vicinity are said to be nearly panic-stricken over the presence of the leper, and the health authorities of the state of West Virginia are threatening the Baltimore & Ohio railroad with all sorts of dire consequences for bringing the diseased man into the state.

The case finally has been brought to the attention of the United States authorities after the afflicted man had been shunted from place to place in several states without being able to find an abiding place where he can have proper care.

Orders were issued today that Rossi be examined by a surgeon of the Marine Hospital service and a Syrian interpreter with a view of ascertaining his status in this country.

How he got into the country, at what port, what examination he was subjected to and other inquiries are what the officials want answered.

If he should be found to be deportable, no time will be lost in sending him back to his own country.

MANY COVET THE CITY JUDGESHIP

More Candidates Announce For the Nomination.

Several More Prospective Candidates Are Also on the List for the Place.

POLITICS TO THE FORE

From the indications at present, there will be a big "field" in the race for the Democratic nomination for city judge this fall, and some very lively campaigning is the promise.

Judge Puryear announced his decision to enter the race yesterday, which cleared the atmosphere, to a degree, of some prospective candidates. There were one or two candidates of the receptive class who were waiting the Judge's decision before making their own, as his candidacy, which is at once recognized and appreciated as a formidable one.

Today, however, there are a number of other entries. Former County Attorney Eugene Graves is declared in the race by some of his friends, and his candidacy credited with being a factor right from the start, as he made a good record in the attorneyship and has a big following in the city.

From Louisville, today, came a letter from Attorney L. K. Taylor announcing his entrance into the race, and friends of Mr. R. J. Barber say he has determined to announce his candidacy.

G. C. Dlugob, who made the race against Judge Sanders the last time for the nomination, will also be a candidate, and Mr. Gus Singleton is in the "considering" list. There are still other pretenders to be heard from.

Judge Charles Emery, who, it has been declared, is a probable candidate, has not announced his decision, and is still "considering." Judge Emery has a big following, is close to the state administration, and, if he seeks the nomination will be a factor.

The Other City Offices.

No one has yet announced for the nominations for aldermen, councilmen and school trustee on the democratic ticket, but they are expected to be forthcoming now in a few days.

There is a good deal of interest in these races. The announcements have been made, in certain quarters, that the Democrats will endeavor to put up men who have never been in these offices heretofore.

"We want a ticket we can elect," said a prominent Democrat today, "and we shall be careful to seek men we can land."

The Mayor's Office.

There are several prospective candidates for the democratic nomination for mayor next year but none of them will come out into the open yet. It is the plan of one or two of them to run out in the aldermanic and council elections this fall, and no doubt there will be several prospective mayoralty candidates among the list of nominations for these offices in the fall.

TRUE DEMOCRATIC

Platform Favored by Convention Denounces Trusts and Tariff.

Waterloo, Ia., August 8.—The Democratic state convention today nominated a full state ticket, headed by Claude R. Porter, of Appanoose county, for governor, adopted a platform and adjourned sine die tonight.

The ticket nominated follows:

Governor, Claude R. Porter; lieutenant governor, John D. Denison, Jr.; secretary of state, J. S. McMen; auditor, C. E. Monroe; treasurer, L. F. Danforth; attorney general, Fred A. Townsend.

The platform unanimously adopted by the convention demands legislation to destroy trusts; favors the regulation, in Iowa, to rates as low as interstate rates; favors a two-cent passenger fare; a state primary law that will protect all parties; the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people; favors a law to punish corporations for contributing to political funds; expresses sympathy with the political program of the National Labor leaders, and the assessment of railroads in Iowa by a non-partisan commission and endorses Bryan for president.

Wreck in Subway.

Boston, Aug. 8.—A rear end collision in the subway this morning endangered the lives of several hundred people and partially wrecked two "L" trains.

WORK RESUMED IN RUSSIA'S MILLS

Failure of Strike Evidence of Powerlessness.

Order Has Been Restored in the Capital Again by the Government.

THE WIRES NEWS OF TODAY

St. Petersburg, Aug. 8.—Work has been resumed in all mills and factories and the failure of the strike is regarded as an open recognition of the powerlessness of the extremists. Order has been restored in the capital and the government has entrusted to the ministry of the interior the preparation of a bill dealing with the Jewish question.

St. Petersburg, August 8.—From a member of the cabinet the Associated Press learns that the government regards the storm raised by the dissolution of parliament as passed.

It is intended to immediately to carry on the policy of "strong handed reform," to which Premier Stolypin has committed himself.

An additional plank of the program is an attempt to appease the discontented peasantry as far as possible. The government's agrarian program which will not differ greatly from the Stolypin project, not only will be promulgated but probably will be placed in effect as a temporary law, the emperor having the right to issue temporary laws during the recess of parliament.

In other words it is the intention of the government to attempt to solve its most difficult problem irrespective of parliament, in the belief that it will meet with enough support to make it impossible for the next parliament to refuse its assent.

The ministry of the interior has issued a statement describing the strike as a complete failure, it having attained serious dimensions nowhere except in St. Petersburg and Moscow.

The statement says further that the factory inspectors are of the opinion that most of the factories will be working full strength before the end of the week.

TRIAL OF LYNNERS.

Governor Polk to Push the Prosecution of Members of Mob.

Springfield, Mo., August 8.—The trial of three of the alleged leaders of the mob which hanged and burned three negroes on the public square, in this city, the night of April 11 last, will begin in the criminal court tomorrow. The case promises to attract a great deal of attention by reason of the fact that Governor Polk, in sending Assistant Attorney General Kennish here to aid in the prosecution, is taking an active part in trying to bring the mob leaders to justice.

The special grand jury which investigated the triple lynching, returned indictments against 22 persons, but for some reason only three arrests have as yet been made. J. Hill Goode and Daniel D. Galbraith, both blacksmiths, are charged with murder in the first degree, and Harry Hacker is charged with perjury. Hacker is alleged to have given false testimony before the grand jury.

The negroes who were hanged by the mob, the bodies afterward being hung in the public square.

FORTUNE IN IRELAND.

Miss Clancy, of Memphis, Will Have Share.

Cincinnati, August 8.—Mary Clancy, formerly connected with the Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine company, in Memphis, Tenn., was located today with her sister in Denver, Colo., and supplied with the last link in the list of missing heirs to the Clancy estate in Ireland, valued at $1,000,000.

For 13 years Wm. Keating, of Bellvue, Ky., just across the river from his step-brother, and one of the four heirs to estate, has been searching for her. A personal advertisement in a St. Louis newspaper finally reached her and she wired today that she will come to Cincinnati immediately to assist in the steps to secure possession of the fortune.

heavy freight collided near here last night and twenty persons were injured. Fireman Myers, Engineer Chadduck, Mrs. Sarah Mettett, of High Point, N. C., were seriously injured. The accident was caused by a delayed freight making up time.

A Railroad Wreck.

Somerset, Tenn., Aug. 8.—A fast freight train on the Louisville & Nashville was derailed this morning at Glen Mary, Tenn. It ran off the bridge into a creek. Fireman James Simmons was killed and Engineer George Colson seriously injured.

G. A. R.

PREPARATIONS FOR ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT MADE.

Meets in Minneapolis Next Week, and Big Crowd is Expected.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 8.—Judge Eli Torrance, former commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., and Wallace G. Nye, who has been in charge of arrangements for the national encampment of that organization in Minneapolis, next week, today issued the following statement. The several committees in charge of arrangements for the forthcoming national encampment of the G. A. R. to be held in Minneapolis from August 13 to 18, 1906, desire to announce that their plans are fully matured and that the city will be fully prepared to meet its full duty in connection with this great event.

Soldiers' quarters in school buildings are ready for occupancy and the patriotic people of Minneapolis are ready to open their doors to resolve all who come. The decoration of the city is fast assuming shape and the national color will be shown in profusion. Plans for the great parade are practically completed and correspondence indicates that there will be not less than 20,000 veterans in line.

Recycled No Support.

Mason City, W. Va., August 8.—After being on a strike since last April, miners at Beech Grove returned to work today at the same wages received when they struck. Miners say they received only $4 benefits each since April.

BIG DAMAGES

SENSATIONAL UNION CITY BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT.

The Fair Plaintiff Entertains the Jury and Officials in the Case.

Union City, Tenn., August 8.—Miss Lola Walker secured a verdict of $21,000 in her suit against Col. Dick Edwards, of this place, for breach of promise and betrayal, the jury reporting this afternoon after being out a short while. Immediately following the announcement the sheriff cleared the court-room and Miss Walker and her uncles, Mrs. Cullen and Mrs. Hauer, hurried in to congratulate the jurors which had been done, the 12, accompanied by the pretty plaintiff, repaid to the courthouse green, where a photographer took the picture of the 13. Sheriff Chile and Deputy Sheriff Guy Walker and Scott Wiley. Each of the jurors congratulated Miss Walker, several of them invited her to their homes, and each asked her for her picture.

E. T. McDaniel, one of the jurors, gave Miss Walker and her uncles a watermelon feast at the Miller house. He begged the locket which Dick Weaver produced on the witness stand, and Miss Walker gave it to him, and to the other jurors she gave flowers from a bouquet that had been presented to her by lady admirers of this community.

WITH TYPHOID FEVER.

Cool Mining Town Is Being Depopulated Near Wheeling.

Wheeling, Aug. 8.—At Black Betsy, a coal mining town, more than one-third of the population is sick with typhoid fever. Several deaths are reported. The coal company has scattered a carload of lime over the town in an effort to eradicate the disease.

EASY VICTIMS OF GREEN GOODS MEN

The Robisons, of Tennessee Tell Their Story.

They Bought Roll of Bonus Money for Ten Cents on the Dollar.

ACCUSED HELD TO GRAND JURY.

If the $10,000 worth of alleged "green backs" Lafayette M. and Frank M. Robison, of Milan, Tenn., expected to get for $800 in hard cash are as green as the men who agreed to take them in, the color must be one that would make the native Irishman forsake his national color, and the Shamrock blush with shame for its lack of luster. The two Robisons arrived today to prosecute D. M. Blackwell, T. L. Warren and Tom Tully, alias Franklin, for defrauding them out of $800, and told their story at police headquarters after the defendants had waived examination.

"We reside in Milan, Tenn., they stated, "and through D. M. Blackwell, a man we had known for some time, began corresponding with Warren and Tully, alias Franklin, of Decatur county, Tenn. The latter two claimed they had stolen a printing press, paper and all necessary material for the printing of 'green backs,' which were as good as ever the United States put out of its mints, and, in order to start a business, would offer the 'goods' at reduced prices. They agreed to sell the bills at 10 cents on the dollar and we agreed to enter into negotiations with them for $10,000 worth. They wanted $800 and by agreement we met in Paducah in December just before Christmas. We gave up $225 and did not get any 'goods.' After a patient wait of several days we returned home and said nothing.

One month later we received a letter from the two stating that they had been experimenting with the money and found it a sure thing; that the money would pass. We had been cited to the case with which the money passed

"Pa" Frank Belt left Wallace park ball field yesterday in a bad mood. He was angry, because there was such a small attendance to see the game, but what made him still angrier was the fact that he lost two games, and, in the last game did not even get a whiff of the home plate. It was two straight for the Indians, and, because of the race the two teams are making, it meant double, each standing for more than it would had Paducah been playing any other team.

Sammy Wright was "right" yesterday and let the Betties down with three bingles, one a double. The Lanky Boy, moreover, struck out thirteen men, and gave only one pass. He was opposed by Akers, but Akers did not show form in the latter part of the game and his support was far from faultless, and this accounted for the scores of the Indians, not one being earned.

The Betties started out like winners in the first inning, at least. It looked that way Copeland got a single but was killed on second and the next two went out in order. In the second Hager doubled and it looked like the visitors were going to hit Wright freely. They got one measly bingle after that, and failure to hit the Lanky Boy tells the story for the visitors. Akers sent the Indians down in one, two three order until the fourth inning when a series of hits and errors tallied runs. Taylor started off with a nice double to right which, but for the tall and uncut grass, would have been good for three sacks at least. Quigley hunted and made first on Hackett's drop of Akers's throw. Quigley stole second and Conner's double scored both runners. Cooper went to third on Wetzel's sacrifice and Haas hit to short. Cooper was caught at home. Haas stole second and scored on Lloyd's single. Lloyd was thrown out while trying to steal. Three runs.

In the eighth inning five more runs were shoved across. Quigley fanned. Cooper singled, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. Wetzel got a pass and Haas patience was rewarded with a gift. Three men were on bases, with one out when the run getting began. It was quick work and one big error did the biggest part of it. Lloyd was up and hit a grounder to Livingston, who was playing in for a bunt. The ball passed the baseman and two runs tallied. "Chief" stole second when the argument was on, and Asher grounded to third, Hager fielding Haas out at the plate. Lloyd made third on the chole, and came in on Belt's wild throw to third. Downing and Wright singled, scoring Lloyd. A passed ball brought Asher and Downing in and the side was retired on Taylor's strike out. Five runs.

Proved Healthfulness

Scientists Affirm the Healthfulness of Good Beer

Purity means an absence of foreign matter—nothing else.

Cleanliness is a well known brewing ESSENTIAL. It is a matter of self-preservation with ALL brewers.

Purity and cleanliness alone do not assure Good Beer nor Healthful Beer.

Healthfulness depends solely upon QUALITY, and quality depends solely upon the ingredients used and upon the method of brewing.

Beer may be brewed from almost any cereal.

Many brewers use Corn as a substitute for Barley-Malt, because Corn costs less.

But the element of QUALITY, the essential of Healthfulness, must be lacking in such Beer.

Choice Barley, Selected Hops and extra quality Yeast are the prime essentials of Good and Healthful Beer.

This is a well known scientific fact.

We use the choicest Barley and Saazer Hops in brewing our Beers, adding a small quantity of Rice in pale beer.

These Saazer Hops, from a small province in Bohemia, have been found by Scientists to contain a superior quality of that wonderful health-giving substance—Lupulin.

Lupulin is creating a stir in the scientific and medical world because of its marvelous results in the treatment of nervous and digestive disorders.

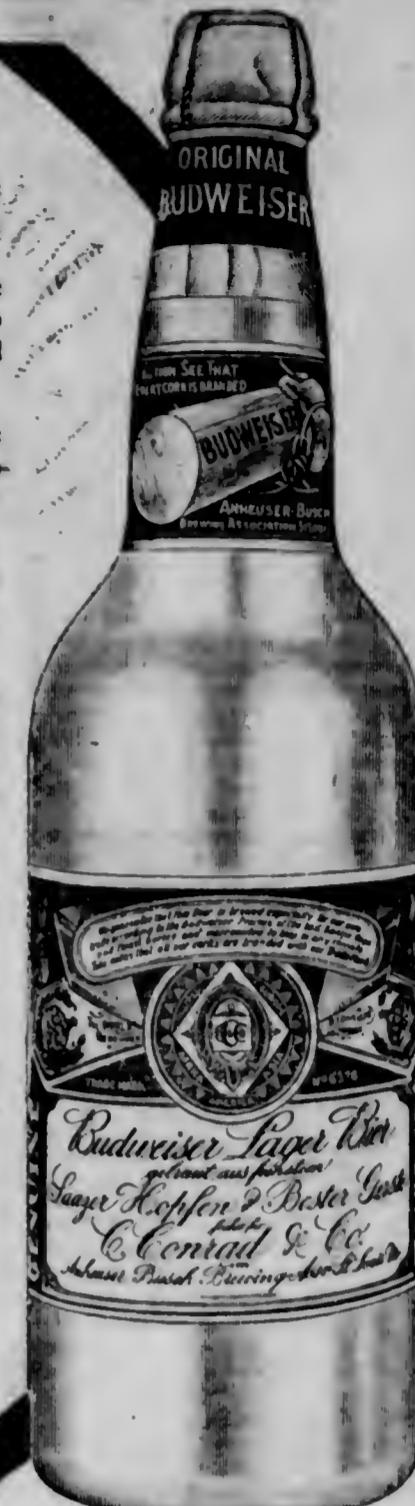

We import a greater quantity of these expensive Saazer Hops than all other brewers combined.

Our storing capacity—600,000 barrels, more than double that of any other Brewery in the United States—makes it possible for us to store (lager) our Beer from four to five months, the time necessary to thoroughly age it.

This perfect maturing brings out, to the utmost, the health-giving qualities of the choice ingredients used.

These are the facts relative to what constitutes good beer.

They are worthy the attention of every person who demands the best when eating or drinking.

RAILROAD NOTES

Mr. Eddie Brable, the well known ball player and harness maker, has forsaken his trade and gone into the railroad service. He has accepted a position as assistant to C. F. Akers, who runs the triple valve testing machine in the local Illinois Central caboose shops. Mr. Brable went to work this morning and succeeds Mr. Tom Akers who has gone into the car repairing service.

Mr. William McNamara, supervisor of tracks of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, was in the city yesterday on business.

Mr. A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, has returned from the east, where he had been a week for his health, and was in Paducah today, coming on one of the excursion trains.

A ledgerwood engine and plow have been brought here for repairing for use on the Tennessee division of the Illinois Central road. The engine unloads gravel from long strings of cars and has been working on the Bardwell Hill, also in Louisiana. It is in charge of Mr. F. W. Ballou, and from here will be sent to the Tennessee division for service.

LOCAL UNIONS ON LABOR RESOLUTIONS

Printers Denounce Central Labor Union's Actions.

The Other Unions, It Is Said, Will Also Take the Matter Up.

THE PRINTERS' RESOLUTIONS

The Paducah International Typographical Union No. 134 yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution denouncing the passage of a resolution in Central Labor Union claiming it to be legally passed, or not passed, by a sufficient number of votes in the union. The meeting yesterday afternoon was attended by nearly every printer in the city, and the following is the resolution adopted:

"At a special meeting held Tuesday August 7, in council and met on the resolutions as published in the local papers of the date of August 3.

"It is the sense of this union, that it, International Typographical Union No. 134, denounce these resolutions as published in the papers, because they contain matters relating to religion and politics, which are antagonistic to the principles of the I. T. U., and it has instructed that the Central Labor Union be notified through its secretary under seal of Local Union No. 134, I. T. U., and that a copy of those resolutions be given to the newspaper of the city for publication."

Members of the typographical union desire that such matters can be legally acted on in Central Union only after they are voted on by the individual unions, and the unions' delegates instructed as how to vote. It is further alleged that there were but 18 members of Central Labor Union present at the time the resolution was passed and its passage was assured over the protest of several members present. There are forty odd delegates to Central Labor Union.

The Carpenter's Union met last night and endorsed the resolution passed by Central Labor Union Thursday night, and it is expected that the many individual unions will also act now that the matter has been brought up by the printers.

HORSE PREFERENCES WORK TO PLAY

Fire Department Pet on Pasture Breaks for Town.

He is Finally Recomended to His Detention and Very Much Enjoys Romp.

HAD CHIEF WOODS PUZZLED

Prince, a Paducah fire department horse, likes the "strenuous life" and tried to throw away his two weeks' vacation in order to get back into the harness and run to fires. As a result of Prince's love for the city he is crippled slightly and it was only by a ruse of Fire Chief Wood that he was kept on the pasture where the fire horses are sent for their rest every two weeks.

Chief Wood alternates in giving his horses vacations, and this week it came Prince's time to secure a life of leisure. Prince is a young horse, and when he was led out of his stall and started for the "ball and unison," he protested vigorously. He pulled and balked, but the hiltier was strong and Prince soon found himself on the old post house property, which is used by Fire Chief Wood as a pasture for his horses. Prince was placed within the fence enclosure and left. The chief started back for town and Prince stood looking longingly after him as he drove away in his buggy.

Prince could not stand it. He wanted to get back to the city and experience the "strenuous life." It was too quiet in the country for him, and he charged on the fence. The horse saw he could not knock it down, and wisely concluded to jump it.

He did but his legs were scratched by the harsh wire.

Fire Chief Woods heard a noise and looking around found Prince's nose poked lovingly over his shoulder. He returned, placed the escaped horse in the pasture again and started for town the second time, and again Prince jumped the fence. He made little better success than the first time, and more scratches were added to his legs.

Chief Wood scratched his head in perplexity. "Dick" an old pony, is on the farm and has a wonderful knack of opening the stable door. He required several hours to do it, but when locked up Dick always manages to be out by morning, and Chief Wood locked Prince and Dick up in the stable and drove away.

The following morning both horses were found galloping about the pasture answering imaginary alarms and Prince became reconciled. He did not show the least inclination to leave and after a dressing of the painful scratches on his legs, Prince marched for a circuit of the pasture to see how fast he could go.

"That is the first time I ever saw a horse refuse a vacation," Chief Wood declaimed, "but he sure did want to get back to the city, and I had a hard time with him."

MADE FROM NATIVE ROOTS. SAFE AND RELIABLE.

That the roots of many native plants, growing wild in our American forests, possess remarkable properties for the cure of various diseases is known to all. Even the untutored Indian had learned the curative value of some of these and taught the early settlers their uses. The Indian never liked work so he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible that she might do the work and let him hunt. Therefore, he dug "papoose root" for her, for that was their great remedy for female weakness. Dr. H. Pearce uses the name "Gafford's Hot Cob" in his "Favorite Prescription," skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective than any other medicine in curing all the various weaknesses and painful derangements peculiar to women.

Many afflicted women have been saved from the operating table and the surgeon's knife by the timely use of Doctor Gafford's Favorite Prescription. Tenderness over the eyes, hysterical rheumatism, backache, spells of dizziness, faintness, bearing down pains or distress should not go unheeded.

A course of "Favorite Prescription" will work marvelous benefit in all such cases, and generally effect a permanent cure.

Daily Thought.

"Let no day pass without some fellowship with books."

This is the day the colored man celebrates his emancipation from bondage, and no man begrimed him his observance of the anniversary. His best well-wisher is his former master. On this day the colored man should take a rearward view over the course he has come in the last 40 years, estimate the progress he has made, take a lesson from his mistakes and resolve to make a better showing by the time the next anniversary rolls around. The colored man should bring up his children to observe the day, not as a mere holiday for a frolic, but as a solemn season of thankfulness and introspection. Too many are inclined to assume the holiday feature as the whole of the day, and in this the colored man is not without his white counterpart. The Fourth of July and even Thanksgiving, perhaps the most characteristic American festival, have in a measure lost their significance through the carelessness of parents. Few children these days receive much patriotic instruction outside the school room. Anniversaries, such as the colored man celebrates today, are only valuable as they are made use of by the individuals to inventory their accomplishments, that they may take courage from performances of the past, ascertain in what channels success lies and carefully note the errors that they may be avoided in the future. Keeping the books rightly balanced and watching the stock is the secret of success in life.

The board of public works meets today. The board of health has ascertained that Bradshaw creek is being used as the depository of refuse, and at the last meeting decided to refer the matter to the board of public works to abate the nuisance. The two departments should co-operate in bringing about a sanitary condition of this little stream, which may become a menace to the city's health.

Never did Columbus strain his eyes more eagerly for the outlines of the western hemisphere than do the politicians of the First Kentucky district for the sweeping outlines of "Our Ollie," who is sailing home to us, with his own little secret carefully hidden in his ample breast.

If the Louisville Herald is to be believed, Governor Beckham has been driven to the "tall timber" in search of a candidate for governor. Well, we grow 'em tall and straight in west Kentucky.

Judge Puryear announces that he will stand on his record in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for police judge. He will "stand" a chance of receding in too.

SUPPLY UNLIMITED.

The Colonel: "I fancy your wife lost her temper today."
Smith: "Not a bit of it. She has an inexhaustible supply."

These debilitating August days. The call to the city is not sounding loud in our ears this summer.

No, that buzzing noise you hear is not the hum of the distant automobile. It is the political pot getting into operation.

There was many a dark man coming with a bundle, coming along, singing his song on the streets today.

You are right, Mr. Mayor. Make the druggists, as well as the saloon-keepers live up to the law.

STORM

DOES GREAT DAMAGE IN COLORADO AND TEXAS.

Some Lives and Much Live Stock and Property Lost by the Storm at Some Points.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 8.—West Central Texas has been visited by a torrential rain and great damage has been done to growing crops. The Tapas branch of the Santa Fe railway has been put out of business by washouts. Several bridges have been rendered unsafe, but none has actually washed away. At Brownwood, Pecan bayou, which flows into the Colorado river, rose so rapidly that some of the people living in the lowlands had to flee for safety. There were several narrow escape but no deaths.

About six miles of track of the Santa Fe has been washed out.

LATER REPORTS.

Fort Worth, Aug. 8.—Reports received here today say Canon City, Col., suffered severely from the typhoon yesterday. Several people are reported killed and injured. The same storm raged at Amarillo, Texas.

An entire family named Ridges, living four miles from Amarillo was killed by lightning. Reports from San Angelo, Ballinger and Brownwood say that the waters are receding and the worst of the flood is over. Great damage was done crops and property and stock. The Union fire department reports eleven persons lost their lives in floods.

ISOLATED BY WATER.

River in Texas and Colorado Overflows and Does Damage.

San Angelo, Tex., August 8.—This city is completely isolated on account of the high water. The town is located on Concho river. A man, his wife and three children were drowned near the city. Erath county is covered with water. At Ballinger on the Colorado river a great amount of stock was drowned and a town inundated. People are forced to seek refuge in churches and school houses. The property loss is enormous.

Indiana's Contribution.

Indianapolis, Aug. 8.—Two work trains on the Vandall railroad collided this morning at Belmont avenue and Vandall crossing this city. One train, loaded with workmen was derailed and wrecked. Thomas Wren, a brakeman, was killed and six workmen injured.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO WAIT
Every dose makes you feel better, but you move back plan everywhere. Priceless.

BROADWAY CURBS

Is Making Effort.

The Board of Works Will Consider
This at the Session Today.

OTHER CITY ROUTINE MATTERS

The board of public works will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock and take definite action towards repairing the curb and gutter on Broadway from Fifth to Ninth street. Two weeks ago the board gave the contractors, the Anchor Roof and Paving company, of Evansville, Ind., until August 8 to begin work, but nothing has yet been done.

Mr. C. E. Jennings is the local agent for the company and is negotiating with concrete men to repair the defects. Mr. Robert Boswell examined the specifications this morning in City Engineer L. A. Washington's office, and will make Mr. Jennings a bid on the work. Other concrete men are expected to bid, and the company is putting forth every effort to have the repairing begin at once. The matter will come before the board this afternoon, and if Mr. Jennings has not come to some satisfactory agreement with concrete men the board will take the matter in charge, do the work itself, and charge it to the contractors who are still under a maintenance bond.

The matter of accepting a bond from Thomas Bridges' Sons, for the work on curbs, gutters and pavements on Jefferson from Fourteenth to Nineteenth street will come up.

City Engineer L. A. Washington will have reports relative to street improvement work and the remainder of the business will be routine.

TO IMPROVE PARK.

If the aldermen pass the resolution passed in the lower board Monday night giving the park commissioners $1,500, this year for its work, the commissioners will immediately take steps to put Lang park in good condition.

TO IMPROVE PARK.

If the aldermen pass the resolution passed in the lower board Monday night giving the park commissioners $1,500, this year for its work, the commissioners will immediately take steps to put Lang park in good condition.

TO IMPROVE PARK.

The site of the park is a very pretty one, and it will require but very little expense comparatively, to improve it. The fence will be taken down at once, the weeds and grass cut, probably some walks laid, and a fountain installed, but, at most, the work will be preliminary to a general scheme of improvement the commissioners have under consideration.

The people of Fountain avenue are pleased over the prospects of improving the park, which has long been a mere waste where the weeds and grass have run riot. The avenue is one of prettiest thoroughfares in city, and the park will add a very attractive feature to it.

The park commissioners' plan to put parks about the size of Lang park in each ward of the city has met hearty approval in every quarter, and each day the park bond scheme becomes more popular, as the people appreciate just what it means.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS AT ODESSA WILL BE BETTER THAN EVER.

Liverpool, Aug. 8.—Cablegrams received by shippers from Odessa, Russia, state that the strike there is over. It is expected the impression of the strike will clear the air and business will proceed under better conditions than before.

IN THE COURTS

I. C. Filed.

The Illinois Central Railroad company was yesterday afternoon fined in police court on an old warrant charging the blocking of Broadway by a string of cars. The fine imposed was $15, and was assessed after the court had fully looked into the law. This is the case in which the mayor appeared as the prosecuting witness. The mayor was riding on a street car when a train pulled across the street, the engine uncoupled and the cars left to stand for about fifteen minutes. The engine had to take water. It is stated, but Judge Bixby could not see that this necessitated the blocking of a street crossing.

Suit Filed.

Suit was filed in the United States circuit court this afternoon by Thomas Hawkins against the owner of the steamer Mona Bauer, for unpaid salary amounting to $307. Hawkins was pilot on the Mona Bauer which is owned by Ed Woolfolk, and prays for an attachment against the boat.

Miss Piner Weds.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian of Tuesday says:

The news has just been received here of the marriage about two weeks ago of Miss Rena Piner, daughter of Rev. W. K. Piner, formerly pastor of the Methodist church here, and Mr. Charles Colehord, son of Charles F. Colehord, president of the State National bank of Oklahoma City and one of that city's most influential and wealthy citizens. The bride's father is now pastor of the Methodist church at Oklahoma City. The couple had been engaged for some time and the wedding set for next fall, but while they were at a house party at Silver Springs, Michigan they decided to have the ceremony performed at once.

Pretty Party.

Miss Blanche Street entertained in a charming manner last evening at her home on South Sixth street, complimentary to Miss Flora Rohr, who is visiting Miss Erma Reitz. The inclement weather caused the party to be changed from the lawn to the house. Refreshments were served to those present, who numbered Misses Erma Reitz, Flora Rohr, Jeanette Potter, Beulah Rogers, Mike Caldwell, Kate Bauer, Inez Tress and Messrs. Frank Donovan, Roy Prather, Arnold and Robert Palmer, John Culmann, Will Staker and Sutton and DeWorten.

Dinner Party.

A Paducah Amateur.

Miss Pearl Riley, daughter of Mr. M. L. Riley, the well-known photographer, and sister, Miss Neva Riley, will go to Mayfield this afternoon. The former has been secured to take the most difficult part in Miss Pugh's butterfly carnival to be given Friday night. Little Miss Riley goes down to rehearse the part. She is Paducah's most promising young actress and already has an enviable reputation in juvenile theatricals.

Lawn Party.

Miss Gussie Herring entertained a number of her friends with a lawn party last evening at her home on South Third street. The spacious lawn, with its colored lanterns and seats, made an ideal place for the entertainment of the guests. Progressive conversation and other amusements were features of the evening. Refreshments were served later.

Indoor Party.

Owing to the threatening weather last evening, Miss Gene Morris postponed her boating party and as a substitute delightfully entertained the invited guests at her home on Madison street. Dancing was indulged in by the young people and musical features added to the pleasure of the evening, after which refreshments were served.

Morning Party.

Mrs. H. S. Wells entertained informally with a pretty morning card party this morning at her apartments in the Empire flats, in honor of Misses Hattie Miller and Mary Newton, the guests of Mrs. C. L. Van Meter. Dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the game.

At Whitehaven.

In compliment to her house-guest Miss Myrtle Greer, Miss Elizabeth Atkins entertained Tuesday evening at her home "Whitehaven." The evening was spent pleasantly by a limited number of guests. Refreshments of tea and cakes were served.

The future senator packed his few assets, including the sign that had hung outside of his office, upon a burro and started for Georgetown, a mining town farther up in the hills. Upon his arrival he was greeted by a crowd of miners who critically surveyed him and his outfit. One of them, looking first at the sign that hung over the pack, then at Walcott, and finally at the donkey, ventured:

"Say, stranger, which of you is Ed?" — "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree," Everybody's Magazine for August.

— "Help, help! I shall drown!"

"Listen," said another man who was passing. "I cannot help you, but tell me if you have any last words for your heirs!" — "I Mondo Uomistico."

AND OTHER KENTUCKY NEWS

Bentleyville, Ky., August 8.—The jury which will try the cases of John Smith, John Abner and B. Fulton French, accused of complicity in the murder of James B. Marcus, in Jackson, on May 4, 1903, will be chosen from another county.

This is a victory for the commonwealth which filed an affidavit to the effect that a fair trial would be impossible owing to the tactics employed by the Hargises, Callahan, French and their allies since the cases were transferred from Breathitt county. It was averred that while two-thirds of the jurors of Lee county were Republicans only four were among those summoned for service.

There is a report out to the effect that Alex. Hargis, through an attorney, has made overtures to Attorney A. F. Byrd to withdraw from the prosecution, stamp the district for Hopkins and in return go to congress two years hence without opposition. Mr. Byrd says he has heard the rumor, but that he has not been approached by any one claiming to represent the Hargises. He says he is in the fight to stay. Asbury Spicer, a witness for the prosecution, arrived here last night after riding all day. Spicer exhibited the bullet which was fired at him from ambush during the trial at Jackson and which scraped his back.

From Breathitt.

Jackson, Ky., August 8.—Douglas Hays, of local notoriety, as one of the Hargis "feudists," and for years on the friendliest of terms with Judge Janies Hargis, left here this morning for Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Hays intends to make New Mexico his home in the future, and work certain mining claims which he is reported to hold.

His return to the west was hastened by the prospect of some unpleasant litigation in Leslie county, resulting from the nonpayment of a check for a considerable sum of money which Hays is alleged to have drawn in favor of Lew Lewis, brother of Judge T. G. Lewis. Hays was deputy sheriff under former Sheriff Ed Callahan. He came all the way from New Mexico to testify for Callahan and Hargis at the Breathitt trials, but was one day too late.

Groom Sixty-five; Bride Seventy.
Hopkinsville, Ky., August 8.—J. R. McKinney, a prominent farmer of this county, and Mrs. Thomas McKinney were married here this afternoon. The bride is 70 years old and the groom 65. The wedding was a general surprise.

Prize Money.

Copies of the prize list for the Kentucky state fair were mailed out yesterday by Secretary J. B. Howles to exhibitors throughout Kentucky and all parts of the country. The prize list will give in detail the classes and the amount of money set aside for each.

Prize money amounting to over $25,000 has been offered, the $15,000 appropriated by the state having been largely supplemented. The money has been divided as follows: Horses, $6,500; jacks, $400; cattle, $5,000; hogs, $1,500; sheep, $1,500; poultry, $800; tobacco, vegetables, field seeds, horticulture, etc., $2,500; woman's department, $800; racing, $8,500. In addition, Hubert Vreeland, commissioner of agriculture, has arranged to have $500 appropriated by the state for prizes in the agricultural department.

In making up the prize list Kentucky breeders and exhibitors have been especially considered, and in addition to the open classes there will be a large number of classes exclusively for Kentucky breeders. This was done because of the fact that the fair is principally given for the encouragement of the livestock and agricultural interests of the state.

DARKEY IN HIS ELEMENT.

Today, August eighth, is the ne-gro's Fourth of July, and there are thousands in the city from Nashville, Memphis, Louisville, Cairo, Jackson, Evansville, Owensboro and from down the N. C. & St. L. road and towns up and down the rivers. The eighth is being celebrated in every form and manner, and it will doubtless prove the biggest celebration of its kind ever held in Paducah, because of the fact that this city is the only one of any size south of the Ohio river which holds such celebrations on a big scale. The railroads took advantage of this and advertised the celebrations, arranged excursions, and today eleven railroad excursions came in.

Joe Mosley, colored, excursion agent for the Illinois Central, has charge of the trains and they arrived as follows:

Excursion from Nashville, arrived at 5 a. m.; Louisville, arrived 8:30; Cairo, 10 o'clock; Wickliffe, 10:30; Covington, 11; two from Memphis, 12; Evansville, 12; Owensboro, 1:30.

The N. C. & St. L. road ran two one from Nashville, arriving at 6 a. m., and the second from Jackson, Tenn., at 11 o'clock.

The railroads had extra coach inspectors and special agents out to look after the order, and no disorder was reported. A total of 110 coaches were handled into Paducah by the Illinois Central without a hitch, bespeaking much for Trainmaster L. E. McCabe and his efficient corps of subordinates.

The Paducah Eureka band met trains at Eleventh and Broadway and besides this band there are two others, one from Mayfield and another from Dyersburg.

Near Eleventh and Broadway, in every available space, a 1500 stand was erected and meals of all kinds served. The small settlement has been dubbed "Camp McCabe," a compliment to Trainmaster L. E. McCabe, of the Paducah district Illinois Central road.

The Traction company has an extra men and all its rolling stock in service. Chief of Police James Collins has over a dozen extra police and is prepared for any emergency.

There will be dances, ball games and every form of amusement for the colored visitors and the Eighth of August, 1906, will probably prove the biggest celebration in the history of the south in this section.

All work where colored labor is depended on has been suspended for the day, and there is little doing in the work line. The cars being crowded early this morning and to preclude complications from gambling and the sale of pale ale and "black bottle" goods, Justice Chas. Emery deported 15 men to do service about the parks to see that order was preserved and no intoxicants sold where there is no license and that no gambling is permitted.

The Manager Of the B. & A.

By VAUGHAN KESTER

Copyright, 1901, by Harper &amp; Brothers

He had heard nothing of his father, and in the pressure of his work and freshened interest in the fortunes of the Huckleberry had hardly given him a second thought. He felt that since he had sent money to him he was in a measure relieved of all further responsibility. If his father did not wish to come to him, that was his own affair. He had placed no obstacle in his way.

CHAPTER V.

ATE one afternoon, as Oakley sat at his desk in the broad streak of yellow light that the sun sent up through the west window, he heard a step on the narrow board walk that ran between the building and the tracks. The last shrill shriek of No. 7, as usual, half an hour late, had just died out in the distance, and the informal committee of town loafers which met each train was plodding up Main street to the postoffice in solemn silence.

He glanced around as the door into the yards opened. He saw a tall, gaunt man of sixty-five, a little stoop shouldered and carrying his weight heavily and solidly. His large head was sunk between hunched shoulders. It was covered by a wonderful growth of iron gray hair. The face was clean shaven and had the look of a placid mask. There was a curious repose in the man's attitude as he stood with a big hand—the hand of an artisan—resting loosely on the knob of the door.

"Is it you, Dannie?"
The smile that accompanied the words was at once anxious, hesitating and furtive. He closed the door with awkward care and, coming a step nearer, put out his hand. Oakley, breathing hard, rose hastily from his chair and stood leaning against the corner of his desk, as if he needed its support. He was white to the lips.

There was a long pause while the two men looked into each other's eyes. "Don't you know me, Dannie?" wistfully. Dan said nothing, but he extended his hand, and his father's fingers closed about it with a mighty pressure. Then quite abruptly Roger Oakley turned and walked over to the window. Once more there was absolute silence in the room save for the ticking of the clock and the buzzing of a solitary fly high up on the ceiling.

The old conflict was the first to break the tense stillness.

"I had about made up my mind I should never see you again, Dannie. When your mother died and you came west I sort of wiped out the little there was between me and the living. In fact, I really didn't know you would care to see me, and when Hart told me you wished the money I could hardly believe it."

Here the words failed him utterly. He turned slowly and looked into his son's face long and lovingly. "I've thought of you as a little boy for all these years, Dannie, as no bigger than that," dropping his hand to his hip. "And here you are a man grown. But you got your mother's look. I'd have known you by it among a thousand."

If Dan had felt any fear of his father he had left him the instant he entered the room. Whatever he might have done, whatever he might have been, there was no question as to the manner of man he had become. He stepped to his son's side and took his hand in one of his own.

"You've made a man of yourself. I can see that. What do you do here for a living?"

Dannie laughed querulously. "I am the general manager of the railroad, father," nodding toward the station and the yards. "But it's not much to brag about. It's only a one horse line," he added.

"No, you don't mean it, Dannie?" And he could see that his father was profoundly impressed. He put up his free hand and gently patted Dannie's head as though he were indeed the little boy he remembered.

"Did you have an easy trip west, father?" Oakley asked. "You must be tired."

"Not a bit, Dannie. It was wonderful. I'd been shut off from it all for more than twenty years, and each mile was taking me nearer you."

The warm yellow light was beginning to fade from the room. It was growing late.

"I guess we'd better go uptown to the hotel and have our supper. Where is your trunk? At the station?"

"I've got nothing but a bundle. It's at the door."

Dannie locked his desk, and they left the office.

"Is it all yours?" Roger Oakley asked, passing as they crossed the yards to glance up and down the curving tracks.

"It's part of the property I manage. It belongs to General Cornish, who holds most of the stock."

"And the train I came on, Dannie—who owned that?"

"At Buckhorn Junction, where you changed cars for the last time, you caught our local express. It runs through to a place called Harrison—the terminus of the line. This is only a branch road, you know."

But the explanation was lost on his father. His son's relation to the road was a magnificent fact which he pondered with simple pleasure.

After their supper at the hotel they went upstairs. Roger Oakley had been given a room next his son's. It was the same room General Cornish had occ faith the like of which had not descended to his own day and general.

"Don't you know me, Dannie?"

"Well, I had it rather hard for awhile," going back to his story.

"Yes," with keen sympathy. "You were nothing but a little boy."

"Finally I was lucky enough to get a place as a newsboy on a train. I sold papers until I was sixteen and then began breaking. I wanted to be an engineer, but I guess my ability lay in another direction. At my rate, they took me off the road and gave me an office position instead. I got to be a division superintendent, and then I met General Cornish. He is one of the directors of the line. I was with at the time. Three months ago he made me an offer to take hold here, and so here I am."

He had heard nothing of his father, and in the pressure of his work and freshened interest in the fortunes of the Huckleberry had hardly given him a second thought. He felt that since he had sent money to him he was in a measure relieved of all further responsibility. If his father did not wish to come to him, that was his own affair. He had placed no obstacle in his way.

"You don't mind if I light my pipe?" he inquired.

"Not a bit. I've one in my pocket, but it's not nearly as fine as yours."

"Our warden gave it to me one Christmas, and I've smoked it ever since. It's a very good man, Dannie. It's the old warden I'm speaking of, not Kenyon, the new one, though he's a good man too."

Dannie wondered where he had heard the name of Kenyon before; then he remembered. It was at the Emory's.

"Try some of my tobacco, Dannie," passing the pouch.

For a time the two men sat in silence, blowing clouds of white smoke out into the night.

Roger Oakley hitched his chair nearer his son's and rested a heavy hand on his knee. "I like it here," he said.

"Do you? I am glad."

"What will be the chances of my finding work? You know I'm a cabinet-maker by trade."

"There's no need of your working, so don't worry about that."

"But I must work, Dannie. I ain't used to sitting still and doing nothing." "Well," said Oakley, willing to humor him, "there are the car shops."

"Can you get me in?"

"Oh, yes, when you are ready to start. I'll have McClintock, the master mechanic, find something in your line for you to do."

"I'll need to get a kit of tools."

"I guess McClintock can arrange that. I'll see him about it when you are ready."

"Then that's settled. I'll begin in the morning," with quiet determination.

"But don't you want to look around first?"

"I'll have my Sundays for that."

And Dan saw that there was no use in arguing the point with him. He was bent on having his own way.

The old convict filled his lungs with a deep, free breath. "Yes, I'm going to like it. I always did like a small town anyhow. Tell me about yourself, Dannie. How do you happen to be here?"

Dannie roused himself. "I don't know. It's chance, I suppose. After mother's death."

"Twenty years ago last March," breaking in upon him softly; then, nodding at the starlit heavens: "She's up yonder now watching us. Nothing's hidden or secret. It's all plain to her."

"Do you really think that, father?"

"I know it, Dannie." And his tone was one of settled conviction.

Dannie had already discovered that his father was deeply religious. It was a

"Is it all yours?" Roger Oakley asked, passing as they crossed the yards to glance up and down the curving tracks.

"It's part of the property I manage.

It belongs to General Cornish, who holds most of the stock."

"And the train I came on, Dannie—who owned that?"

"At Buckhorn Junction, where you changed cars for the last time, you caught our local express. It runs through to a place called Harrison—the terminus of the line. This is only a branch road, you know."

But the explanation was lost on his father. His son's relation to the road was a magnificent fact which he pondered with simple pleasure.

After their supper at the hotel they went upstairs. Roger Oakley had been given a room next his son's. It was the same room General Cornish had occ

UNIVERSAL SOLVENT

Denatured Alcohol Promises to Make Life Simpler and Happier.

If the removal by act of congress of the tax on denatured alcohol produces all the beneficial results expected, light, heat and power in many general and tasteful applications are going to be a great deal cheaper. The odious smell of gasoline will vex the nostrils no more. Kerosene will be an expensive illuminant in comparison. We shall wash, iron, drive on land and water, read, plow, barrow and generally live and move by means of denatured alcohol. Doubtless there was some exaggeration in the "claims" of its friends, but much has been done with it in Germany, and the petitions of all sorts of persons and interests for the removal of the tax showed how wide was the expectation of good results from free denatured alcohol. An Ordinance providing for the original construction of the Side-walks, including Granitoid Curbs and Gutters on both sides of South Fourth street, from Norton street to Husbands street, in the City of Paducah, Kentucky, the Side-walks to be six feet wide, and the Curb and Gutter to be what is commonly known as "Combined Curb and Gutter," and all to be of Granitoid construction.

Section 1. That the side-walks, including curbs and gutters on both sides of South Fourth street, from Norton to Husbands street on the west side of South Fourth street, in the city of Paducah, Kentucky, be and it is hereby ordered and directed to be originally constructed of granitoid construction, the side-walks to be six feet wide, and the curbs and gutters to be what is commonly known as "Combined Curb and Gutter."

All to be done in strict accordance with the plans, specifications and profiles of the city engineer, made and provided by him for that purpose. All of said sidewalks, curbs, gutters as aforesaid to be of granitoid construction and to be built in strict accordance with the aforesaid plans, specifications and profiles, all of which are hereby adopted as a part of this ordinance and made a part of the same as fully as if embraced herein or attached hereto, and designated by being marked "A." Reference is also made to the petition of the property owners abutting said street, which is made a part hereof, and to have the same force and effect as if embraced herein and attached hereto, and for identification marked "B."

2. Said work shall be contracted for and executed under the action of the board of public works and supervision of the city engineer, and shall be commenced at a time designated by the board of public works to be contracted, and shall be completed on or before the 31st day of December, 1906.

"Well, I had it rather hard for awhile," going back to his story.

"Yes," with keen sympathy. "You were nothing but a little boy."

"Finally I was lucky enough to get a place as a newsboy on a train. I sold papers until I was sixteen and then began breaking. I wanted to be an engineer, but I guess my ability lay in another direction. At my rate, they took me off the road and gave me an office position instead. I got to be a division superintendent, and then I met General Cornish. He is one of the directors of the line. I was with him at the time. Three months ago he made me an offer to take hold here, and so here I am."

He had heard nothing of his father, and in the pressure of his work and freshened interest in the fortunes of the Huckleberry had hardly given him a second thought. He felt that since he had sent money to him he was in a measure relieved of all further responsibility. If his father did not wish to come to him, that was his own affair. He had placed no obstacle in his way.

"Would you like to put away your things now?" asked Dan as he placed his father's bundle, which he had carried up from the office, on the floor.

"I'll do that by and by. There ain't much there—just a few little things I've managed to keep or that have been given me."

Dan pushed two chairs before an open window that overlooked the square. His father had taken a huge bluebonnet moeserium from its case and was carefully tilling it from a leather pouch.

"You don't mind if I light my pipe?" he inquired.

"Not a bit. I've one in my pocket, but it's not nearly as fine as yours."

"Our warden gave it to me one Christmas, and I've smoked it ever since. It's a very good man, Dannie. It's the old warden I'm speaking of, not Kenyon, the new one, though he's a good man too."

Dannie wondered where he had heard the name of Kenyon before; then he remembered. It was at the Emory's.

MONEY IN PEARLS

A 75-CENT PEARL SELLS FOR $15,000 IN NEW YORK.

The Industry an Interesting One on the Ohio River, Below Paducah.

That there is big money in the pearl industry was long ago recognized, and the western streams, for many years, have been the scenes of active hunting on the part of skilled fishermen for river pearls and mussels.

The industry on the Ohio river has assumed larger proportions every year and to one who has never seen the fleet of boats engaged in it on the river just below Paducah the first sight is one to be remembered.

There have been no big finds reported yet this summer, but the people follow the business make a very good living out of it.

A New York paper, of this week, has the following item which will interest those who know anything of the industry around Paducah.

On sale in John street is a perfect pearl weighing 68 grains, white and rounded, for which the asking price is $15,000, says a New York telegram. The man who found it in a mussel shell on the Wisconsin bank of the Mississippi river only a few weeks ago, sold it for 75 cents. The pearl came in a shell the size of a silver dollar.

Another pearl from the American fisheries in Middle Western rivers, offered now for $5,000 in the Malden Lane district, is of 98 grains, and is a pear-shaped drop of pink tint.

RAILROAD TIE

PADUCAH MAN SECURES PATENT ON STEEL FIBRE TIE.

A Probable Solution of a Great Problem for Railroads at Last.

The Sun's Washington dispatches today announced the issuance of a patent to Charles J. Kopf, of Paducah, of a railroad tie.

Mr. Kopf is chief engineer for the West Kentucky Coal company, and resides at 321 Jackson street. His patent is a steel and fibre composition railroad tie.

Mr. Kopf has been at work on the patent for some time, and thinks he has probably solved what is becoming a very serious problem for the railroads on account of the rapid depletion of the wood supply for railroad ties. The invention has been shown to a number of practical men as is deemed a success. If so, Mr. Kopf no doubt has the foundation of a fortune in it.

Eaten By Cannibals.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Miss Beulah Logan Tuthill, a Methodist missionary, whose ancestors were missionaries before her, started the big Methodist camp-meeting on the Desplaines river by telling how she saw eleven persons killed and devoured by cannibals. She was taken to the Caroline Islands when she was 6 years old, and began her missionary work when she was 17. In 1900 her parents left the Carolines and went to Sidney Australia. She remained on the island for several months afterward.

Mrs. Phillip Schuler and Miss Barbara Schatz, of Evansville, will arrive this week to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. C. DeMert.

FOR BRYAN

IDAHO AND IOWA ENDORSE HIM FOR PRESIDENCY.

Other Work of the Two Conventions Held Yesterday.

Couer, D'Alene, August 8.—After a strenuous two days' convention, the Democrats of Idaho placed in nomination their ticket and adopted a platform in which anti-Mormonism is the key-note. Senator Duhoh's speech of acceptance was a denunciation of Mormonism and a defense of his own record in congress.

"I prophesy that within three years no man in Idaho will have the temerity to stand on the public platform and defend the hierarchy of Salt Lake," he declared. He concluded with this reference to Bryan:

"Two years hence, when our peerless leader, William Jennings Bryan, is elected president, we shall have the opportunity to apply all Democratic principles for the welfare of our country."

The ticket nominated follows: United States Senator, Fred T. Dubois; member of congress, Rees Untabaugh; justice of the supreme court, Stewart S. Denning; governor, C. O. Stockslager; lieutenant governor, George C. Chapin; secretary of state, Flournoy Galloway.

The anti-Mormon plank of the platform pledges the Democratic party to secure the enactment of legislation necessary to make operative the test oath, provided by the constitution of Idaho, which in effect would disfranchise all faithful Mormons.

Bryan is endorsed for the presidential nomination. One plank deplores the death of former Governor Stoenenberg and demands that his assassins be punished.

TAMMANY, TOO.

New York, Aug. 8.—To endorse William J. Bryan for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1908, Charles F. Murphy will issue a call for a special meeting of the Tammany general committee, to be held next week. Announcement of this intention on the part of the Tammany leader, convinced Democrats that Mr. Murphy, contrary to a belief which existed in some quarters, is heart and soul in the Bryan movement. His intimate friends expressed no surprise because they have known all along that he favors the nomination of Mr. Bryan in preference to all others.

GOV. BECKHAM

INVITED TO PADUCAH FOR IMMIGRATION CONVENTION.

State Board of Agriculture and Secretary Vreeland Are Also Invited.

Secretary Coons of the Commercial club, has invited Governor Beckham and Secretary of Agriculture Herbert Vreeland, and the entire state board of agriculture, to come to Paducah to attend the immigration convention the club has arranged for October the 4th and 5th.

Governor Beckham has always had a great regard for Paducah, as he has a number of warm supporters and admirers here, as was shown in the reception given him during the state encampment last year, and it is thought he will endeavor to make the visit.

The Horse Show meet will be on at that time, too, and the association is preparing an invitation to the governor, who is a great lover of the blue-bloods, to attend for two or three days.

SOUTHERN INDUSTRY.

There was an increase of wage-earners in the factories of the south in the years 1900-1905 or 139,501 or 19.3 per cent., against an increase of 16 per cent in the whole union. The number of factory hands in 1905 was 863,125, the increases being most notable in Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana. Visitors who spend their vacation in Virginia during the present summer observe a notable multiplication of new industries and widely diffused prosperity. The same phenomena are seen it appears, all over the south at present.—Baltimore Sun.

Mr. J. K. Hendrick went to Mayfield yesterday on business.

To many a mingled sound at once, The awakened wharf-boat gave response.

The denou-mouthed blood-hound's heavy hay,

Resounded up the decky way;

Like the clarion's heavy blast,

The rooster's cry of pain came past.

This parody on a passage from Scott's "Lady of the lake," will introduce the reader to the situation at the wharf-boat this morning. A crate of hounds was being shipped somewhere and the hounds gave continual vent to their feelings. One rooster had another one in his arms, while a third rooster was engaged in coining the captive one's kinkly locks with a fine comb. The process appeared to be serious to the receiver of these delicate attentions and his groans of pain added another element to the mingled chorus which emanated from the Dick Fowler.

The indifferent mate soon ended this drama of rooster-a-haut life by orders to "shift the gnawing-plank."

With the exception of the tow-boats, the arrival and departure of boats today was in accordance with the schedules. Most of the packets however had crippled crews.

The Buttress arrived shortly after 8 o'clock this morning from Clarksville and left at noon for Nashville.

The Clyde will leave this evening at 6 o'clock for the round trip to the Tennessee river.

Freight was not received at the wharf-boat this morning after 12 o'clock to give the freight handlers a half-hour.
